"Once in a while you get to see a production that is so bizarrely good, that you want to recommend it to everyone, even if it does say '6+' after the title. I... um I from Het Houten Huis is precisely one of those masterpieces."

Volkskrant ★★★★★

"(...) the unbridled fantasy with which the pain and irritations of life are made tangible for young and old, offers an amazingly clever counterweight (...)"

For everyone who's ever at odds with themselves

Lately, I have been overly concerned with myself. This morning I left home on time, but once outside it became apparent that I was still partially lying in bed. When I returned home that evening, the part of me I'd left behind had blocked the door. Through the window I saw him running around the house. It was a mess: the computer's letters had been stuffed inside the refrigerator, fish were swimming among the houseplants and my dirty linen had been aired in public. When I pointed this out, he denied everything and quickly slipped into the painting down the hall. Now I'm hiding under the covers, but I know he's watching me...

Education

We have made a package of assignment cards for this performance. With these assignments we train the imagination of the students and we give the teacher tools to prepare the theater visit, deepen the theme and discuss the performance afterwards.

In-depth program

The performance is accompanied by an in-depth program in the foyer of the theatre. This can be booked optionally.
